

CDR René A. Campos, USN-Ret.

CDR René Campos joined the MOAA staff, October 1, 2004 as the deputy director, Government Relations, military family issues. In September 2007, she assumed responsibilities for health care issues. CDR Campos began her 30-year career as a photographer's mate, enlisting in the Navy in 1973, and was commissioned a naval officer in 1982. Her subspecialties included manpower and personnel and financial management. Duty assignments included public affairs, recruiting, and personnel policy. Her last assignment was at the Pentagon as the associate director, Office of Family Policy in the office of the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense, Military Personnel and Family Policy. She has a B.A. in criminal justice and psychology from Columbia College and an M.B.A. in organizational management from the University of Phoenix.

René lives in Washington, D.C., with her husband, Al, a Navy Reservist, and their two children, Ryan and Nissa.

MOAA Position: Deputy Director, Health Care Issues, Government Relations Department