

Raymond Beauge

Ray Beauge is a 30 year Navy veteran. He retired from Active Duty in February of 2002. He was hired by the Fleet and Family Support Center, Norfolk, Virginia in August of 2002 as a Deployment Specialist and Senior Spouse Program Manager for the Hampton Roads area.

His role as a Deployment Specialist includes being responsible for conducting pre, mid, and post deployment programs for military members and their families. He has participated in 11 Return and Reunion trips assisting Sailors and Marines to reconnect with their families after several months on deployment.

Ray's responsibilities as the Senior Spouses Program Manager are as an adviser to The Continuum of Resource Education (C.O.R.E.). C.O.R.E is a volunteer organization of senior military spouses. They coordinate, develop and present programs intended to provide training and guidance to other military spouses. These programs offer tools and guidance required to fill spouses demanding roles and positions as their military spouses career develops. Currently there are three levels of C.O.R.E., Senior Spouses, Junior Officer Spouses, and Command Master Chief/Chief of the Boat Spouses. Ray provides stability, guidance, assist with direction and administrative support to these groups through Fleet and Family Support Center, Norfolk, Virginia.
